PRINCIPAL’S REPORT

School Council

We had a great School Council meeting last Monday and we are very pleased that Michael Wong and Duncan Fitt have kindly agreed to renominate for School Council. This means we have only one more place to fill. So we are extending time for nominations. Please consider coming onto council. It is for 2 years and the meetings go for about 2 hours on a Monday night. We have 8 or 9 meetings a year generally. Each member of school council also joins and/or chairs one of the school council sub committees, which also meet monthly.

It is with great sadness that it was announced on Monday night that Louise (Wizz) Height, who deftly ran the Council meeting, has decided to not nominate for School Council this time round. Wizz has been an absolute superstar in her organisation of the fund-raising activities over many, many years. Wizz has been tireless in her efforts to raise funds for the children of this school. Wizz has also been an enthusiastic member of the Finance and Facilities subcommittee as well.
Wizz has been a creator of big ideas, undaunted by big tasks and has spent countless hours enlisting people to help bring these ideas to life; coordinating events, obtaining donations, carrying loads of various auction items, drinks etc, advertising the events, counting money, smiling continuously, maintaining a positive attitude and generally spreading good cheer and positivity.

We will miss her popping into the office with her ready laugh and can-do attitude. Wizz and her main partner in Fun$raising, Bronwen Jefferson, have done a power of work over many, many years and the kids at this school are so much better off because of their fabulous efforts. The laptops and i-pads have been significantly increased in number because of the fund raising activities as well as many other initiatives.

Fetes, Movie Nights, Trivia nights, raffles, auctions, muffin & fruit morning teas and sooo much more.

Sincerest thanks not only for the funds raised that have directly benefited our students but even more congratulations for providing wonderful opportunities for our families to connect and be part of the KPS community and beyond.

Art Fun

Transformed toys

Grade 3-4’s are learning about thinking about and making art works in 3D. They will be learning construction skills and designing a gathering space for a transformed toy. Thankyou to all the families who have rummaged through their toy boxes and donated plastic toys for us to deconstruct and reassemble. Students have nearly completed building their character, mastering the hot glue gun and are now turning their efforts to making a fun space to suit their toy. They will draw on their classroom learning about community and public spaces and will develop skills in fitting together, building by cutting and shaping and develop the ability to choose the best joining method and the most appropriate materials to solve construction challenges. They will develop knowledge of different tools and attachment techniques appropriate for each of the different construction materials they choose such as cardboard, balsa wood hard wood etc.

Here we have some toys being remodelled. Heads, torsos, legs, wings etc were all extracted from the toys and reimagined with the deft use of glue guns. They looked great. Weird but great! The kids were very pleased to show off their imaginative creations.
Swimming Carnival

Here are some of the swim team who competed yesterday. They swam really well and came fourth overall. We are now in the big schools competition as the number of students has risen. Nuccia was extremely proud of their efforts and the children returned happy and proud to be Kensington Primary representatives.

Bounce Back – Values

Each grade is working their way through the Working and Playing Together booklets with great discussions being generated about different values and why they can be hard to follow sometimes. The booklets are on the website under the ‘Bounce Back’ drop down, and can be useful to read with your children at home. One of the key reasons values can be hard to follow is actually to do with how we feel about something that has happened rather than about whether we believe in these values. Overwhelming feelings of shame, fear or sadness can make it very difficult to make decisions that are in line with our values. One prep grade was very good at identifying this in a discussion about owning up when you have accidentally broken something. They were able to see that feeling scared of what parents might say or feeling sad that they had spoilt something that was precious to someone, made it hard to follow the value of honesty. This meant that it was hard to own up to mistakes sometimes. Understanding the many feelings that children experience when they do something we disapprove of can help us to respond in a way that supports children to practice the values we are learning. Observing and reflecting feelings can be as simple as saying ‘I can see on your face that you are feeling worried about something,’ rather than ‘what have you done?’ By reflecting feelings we build a stronger relationship with our children and support them to better understand themselves and their choices of behaviour. This takes away one of the difficulties in practicing values such as honesty.

On another note, in one of the 1/2 grades this week, the students were helping their teacher, who is new to the school, to learn what Bounce Back is all about. It was wonderful to hear the students express so clearly the many aspects of becoming more resilient that they had already learnt. They spoke about being able to manage feelings better, to use helpful thinking to make yourself feel better when you are having a tricky day, to allow yourself to make mistakes because that is how you learn and that we all need to stand up to bullying. We related the idea of Bouncing back and resilience to the elasticity in a spring or rubber band and they made their own paper springs as a reminder of what they have learnt. It is wonderful to know that the students across the school are learning, remembering and using a range of skills for being more resilient and socially competent in school and in their lives.

EARLY BIRD CHOIR AUDITIONS 2015

Early Bird Auditions will be held Tuesday and Thursday lunchtimes next week (March 3rd and 5th). Auditions will be held in the music room. The choir currently holds 23 students. 2-3 Spots are available. Students do not need to prepare a song for the audition.

The Early Birds Choir rehearses for 1 hour every Thursday morning and leading up to eisteddfods may have extra rehearsals across a week and some Sunday rehearsals at school. The Early Birds is a free choir with many voluntary hours put in during and after school by Brooke and Sally.

Brooke auditions between 40-50 students each audition round. Some students will audition numerous times over their schooling and still not be offered a spot. This will happen for a number of reasons. Two of the main reasons are:

1) Vocal Tone – Many students have voices more suited to being a solo singer e.g. Pop or Jazz. Even though the child may have an excellent voice the tone of their voice would stand out in the EB choir thus it would not be suitable.

2) Strength of the child’s voice. This is something that the child cannot control and can only be changed/strengthened with age. A child’s voice may mature as they reach grade 6 or up into high school.

Auditions are based around 2 main sections

Section One – Vocal Quality

Section Two - Character

Students must have medium to high ability in all of the following areas.

VOCAL AUDITION

1) Ability to hold a harmony
2) Ability to maintain a secure pitch
3) Suitable vocal tone
4) Ability to blend
5) At least a Two Octave range. (Starting at a G below middle C)
6) An even projection throughout the two octaves
7) Music reading ability

CHARACTER AUDITION

1) Ability to demonstrate leadership qualities (At all times)
2) Ability to show respect to students and teachers (At all times)
3) Ability to work hard
4) Resilience
5) Good work ethic
6) Excellent concentration
7) Ability to show initiative
8) Organisational skills

Each year, Bicycle Network (formerly Bicycle Victoria) conducts a count for local councils so they can see where commuter cyclists are headed, and which roads they take. The count is conducted by volunteers, who can be rewarded by a $50 donation to their nominated charity or not-for-profit organisation. This year, they’ve also expanded it out to include primary schools - you could earn KPS $50!

What's involved? You can choose from assigned locations and from 7-9pm you count the numbers of bikes going in each of the directions through the intersection. Easy!

If you, or any friends or relatives are interested in earning $50 for KPS, the details are here. Get in quickly!

Class Parent Representatives

Dear parents

At KPS our Parent Class Reps help to ensure that all parents and students feel welcome, connected and involved in the life of our school.

Green Forms were handed out to the students last week requesting for parents to volunteer as the parent representative for their child’s class. Please consider taking on this role for your child’s class this year.

What do Class Representatives do?

- arrange a social activity for the students and their families each semester
- help to welcome new families at the school
- encourage participation in school activities such as parent social evenings and other school functions

The Parent Class Rep position can be shared between two parents, and is not a time consuming role. Being a Class Rep is a great way to meet other parents and helps to foster the great sense of community we have at KPS.

If you’d like to volunteer as the parent Class Rep for your child’s class, or would like some more information, please complete and return the green form or contact Angela Weir, Parent Rep coordinator, directly.
