

Art heart

I learned that a few kids' drawings and music with dancing can make such a positive effect on old people; brightening their day. Zoe

I am happy that Kensington Primary school is a part of many people's hearts that are sick and wanting some colour into their eyes. The thing I enjoyed was dancing and singing with the residence and putting a smile on their faces. Macey.

I thought it was really nice to know how much the paintings, so simple, could help the people be happy. I hope when I am that old I'll be happy and have children visit me. I feel proud because our art work is helping someone else. I hope we do this again. Sienna

I feel like I made a lot of people happy and I felt good in myself. Oscar

It was very inspiring and interesting seeing old people struggling with pain and I'm hoping you have a good life and want to thank you for having us. Arianna.

Dana explains the impact of the drawings.

Permanently installed frames for continual exhibition.

I am proud that my dragon picture has helped people with dementia. It was also fun to watch the elderly people dance with the performer. Henry

I felt happy for the people at the aged care centre. Now they have a much better life that is artistic and beautiful. It really inspired me to be more creative. All the singing and dancing had a major part of it too. Lucy

Today I felt very lucky to not have any medical problems. I felt sorry for them and hope God blesses the Aged Care Facility. Fatma

I feel happy that we went to Lynches Bridge aged care facility because I got to see how are our art work has affected people and got to know what goes on there, I was really happy I was there. Mahder.

I was happy when we were told all of the elderly people looked at our art work and that it brightened up their day. It was fun dancing with them. Emma T

"Hands up for Art" poster is very tactile and enjoyed by the dementia patients. Here it is shown off by our KPS Students.

I went to the elderly peoples place and saw all of our art work on the walls and after that we danced with them I felt so proud of everyone there and if there is another chance to go there I would take it. Shannon.

I hope I go back to see the old people and see them dance again. I found it really funny when they told us that one of the old men used to guard the night. (Now he sleeps in the day and is up all night) I am proud to see how our art work made him happy and well. I am glad to see the old people happy. Riley M

Today I felt proud of my involvement in the aged care tour. I was surprised that such old people could be so enthusiastic. I am very lucky to have what I have got. I was surprised that people with dementia can do knitting. It was a good experience. Milla

I felt proud and happy to see how our art work changed the hallways of the old people's home and made them happy. I think they also liked us visiting them. I really hope they enjoy the drawings. Ashley.

I liked going to the old people's home it was nice to know that our art work is making them happy. Eden

I felt happy that I got to go to the old people's home and I had a lot of fun. I liked looking at our paintings on the wall. Ruby.

I feel happy and proud of my trip today because I made a special painting for them and I hope it made all their days when we sang and danced. It was all very fun. My mouth hurts from smiling so much! Ava.

I was surprised when the man started singing, the old people danced to it. It was all so colourful. Aston

It was fun watching the people dance. Thomas

I loved seeing the old people having a smile on their faces and enjoying the music and all of us dancing, I also liked it when some got up to dance too. Bethel.
